09.3 Prime times – The role of the key person

'Each child must be assigned a key person' (EYFS 2023)

Young children need to form a secure attachment to a key person when they join the setting to feel safe, happy, and eager to participate and learn.

The key person role

- A key person builds an on-going relationship with the child and their parents/carers and is committed to that child's well-being while in the setting.
- Every child that attends is allocated a key person before they begin settling in - it is not the responsibility of the child to choose their own key person.
- Where possible a 'back up' key person is also identified for each child so that they can fulfil the role in the absence of the main key person, for example, during annual leave or sickness.
- The key person conducts the progress check at age two for their key children.
- The role of the Keyworker is fully explained to parents/carers on induction.
- The key person is central to settling a child into the setting. The setting manager and key person explain the need for a settling in process and agree a plan with the parents.
- The number of children for each key person takes into account the individual needs of children and the capacity of the key person to manage their cohort; it is also influenced by part-time places and part time staff. The setting manager should aim for consistency i.e. matching part-time staff to part-time children; full-time children should not be divided between key persons during the week.
- Photographs of key persons are displayed clearly.
- The key person spends time daily with their key child to ensure their well-being.

Parents/carers

- Key persons are the first point of contact for parents/carers with regard to matters concerning their child and any concerns parents/carers may have are addressed with the key person in the first instance.
- Key persons support parents/carers in their role as the child's first and most enduring educators.
- The key person is responsible for the child's developmental records, completing the progress check at age two, and for sharing information about progress with the child's parents/carers.

Learning and development

- The key person helps to ensure that every child's learning and care is tailored to meet their individual needs. This is achieved through regular observation and assessment of children, using information gathered about their achievements, interests and learning styles to plan for each individual child's learning and development.
- If a child's progress in any of the prime areas gives cause for concern, the key person must discuss this with the setting manager or SENCO and the child's parents/carers.

Whole team approach

- This enables us to step in when the main key person is absent or unavailable to provide a stable and consistent care relationship for the child.
- All staff form relationships with the child until the child is happy to be cared for by this person.
- All qualified staff share information with parents/carers in the key person's absence and makes notes in the child's records where appropriate.
- Information is shared with the key person on their return.

Safeguarding children

- The key person has a responsibility towards their key children to report any concern about their development, welfare or child protection matter to the setting manager and to follow the procedures in this respect.
- Regular supervision with the setting manager provides further opportunities to discuss the progress and welfare of key children.
- All key staff has a duty likewise.
